JUAKEZ TRACK IN HEAVY CONDITION.

One Race Is Declared Off and Remainder of Card Is Riddled by Scratches.

El Paso, Texas, March 3.—Unusually cold weather prevailed again today and there was a slight flurry of snow just before noon. The Juarez track was in a heavy condition and only horses that were partial to that kind of going could run over it.

There were so many withdrawals from the original second race that it was declared off and a substitute provided. This race provided the only winning favorite of the day in E. T. Miller's Fifty.

The six furlong handicap was won by Kootenay in a drive with Grover Hughes, the odds-on favorite. Menominee, which the talent rejected in favor of Andrew O'Day, won the last race off by himself.

John R. Martin, one of New York's famous restaurateurs, was an arrival. He intends to remain about a week.

INFORMATION FOR TEXAS LEGISLATORS.

Lexington, Ky., March 3.—The following telegram addressed to Charles H. Jones and intended to be read to the members of the Texas legislature, now in session at Austin, was sent from here today by prominent breeders of the thoroughbred horse: "Please say for us in behalf of the Texas horse interests that experience has taught us that horse racing is essential to the improvement of the breed, and that racing in Kentucky under the supervision and rules of the state racing commission and with pari-mutuel betting has been wonderfully clean and decidedly successful. In short, the law creating the state racing commission was the salvation of the vast horse industry in Kentucky."

HOLDS PARI-MUTUEL BETTING ILLEGAL.

Denver, Col., March 3.—Attorney-General Farrar of Colorado has rendered an opinion which holds that pari-mutuel betting comes within the prohibition of the Colorado law and therefore the plan of a spring meeting here probably will be abandoned. The law under which a state commission was appointed to supervise racing in Colorado ignored the betting adjunct of racing. Upon the theory that pari-mutuel betting was permissible under the Colorado law that system was employed in connection with the meeting held last spring at overland Park.

THREE PURSES FOR BEDWELL STABLE.

Havana, Cuba, March 3.—The H. G. Bedwell stable was in rare form at Oriental Park today, when its colors were victorious in three of the four races. A. Laura, and Brian Path, all ridden by jockey Taplin. Two of the three were the only winning favorites of the day. The remaining races went to well backed horses in Europe and Spain.

Three horses have changed hands by the claiming process so far this week. Ship going to G. Phillips, Supreme to H. N. Harris and Gerard to A. Larcade.

J. S. McBride has arrived from Juarez with nine horses.

RACING GOSSIP FROM THE EAST.

New York, March 3.—Godfrey Breece, widely known in horse show and polo circles, has a stable of horses in training at Belmont Park. Mr. Breece, who is an English sportsman, will assume the active training of his thoroughbreds just as soon as the season is far enough advanced to permit real work-outs, and plans to race exclusively on the metropolitan tracks this summer. This will mark Mr. Breece's debut on the American turf, and will also be the first time he has ever raced horses over the flat. He has heretofore devoted himself to jumpers in his own country, but his present string is made up of both flat runners and steeplechasers, and he will follow both branches of the turf this year.

Absconder, which two years ago was all but unbeatable at the Hunt meetings in races over considerable distances on the flat, is training again under the supervision of James Fitzsimmons at Gravesend. Two years ago this horse was shipped to Kentucky to make a bid for the Endurance Stakes, but in a race at Latonia, given in the way of preparation, a horse in front of him fell, and he tumbled over him. He was badly injured and is only now coming back to training condition.

The first sign of a spring exodus from Sheephead Bay came when six horses of the Quincey

SPEEDY PERFORMANCES OF ONE OF THE SWIFTEST SPRINTERS OF THE DAY

Early in the year 1912 John W. Schorr purchased several two-year-olds from H. P. Whitney. It is probable that at the time Bravny was supposed to be the best of those bought, but the flight of time revealed that Leochares was the real bargain and a rare good one to boot. His fame is that of a sprinter, and as such his rank is high. When right on edge in point of condition he is able to stride along at a pace swift enough to bring weakness to any competitor. Although used chiefly in short distance racing because of his superior speed, he has shown on several occasions that he can cover a mile in good style and perhaps might race successfully at a greater distance if trained with that purpose in view. Last year he won at a mile in 1:38, which, if not the extreme of speed, is still rapid traveling.

As a two-year-old he was given time to mature and did not start in his first race until July 3, 1912, at Fort Erie. His debut was in a five-eighths of a mile dash for maiden two-year-olds. This he won from ten opponents and finished eight lengths in front of Micosukee in 1:00, convincing evidence of being gifted with speed of a high order. In his next race he was beaten by Horton over a heavy track and the same distance in 1:03, at Windsor, August 25, in which he ran five-eighths in 1:06, and won easily from the Voltra, Tankard and five more. August 28, at the same track, he won the Essex Handicap at five and a half furlongs and defeated such a celebrity as Rock View, along with Ballysue and Miss Edith, but he only had up 108 pounds to 126 on Rock View. However, he won easily in 1:09 over a muddy track. Rock View was a 3 to 5 favorite. September 10 he won the Hockelaga Handicap, at Blue Bonnets, Montreal. He carried 114 pounds to 121 on Calgary, 107 each on Ramogay, Flahibergast and Scullygaw and 108 on race in 1:14. Then to show that he stood in need of no weight concessions from Calgary, he took up 119 pounds to 118 on the latter and defeated him at five and a half furlongs in 1:06, on the last day of the Montreal meeting, but it was a close thing and he only won by a head. In a purse race of three-quarters of a mile, at Toronto, September 21, he again defeated Calgary and ran the distance in 1:12, but as before, it was a tight race and he was only first by a nose, four others running. September 28 he proved beyond controversy that he could stay well when he won the Grey Stakes at a mile in 1:40, and, carrying 115 pounds, gave considerable weight carry to Flahibergast, Tankard, Oiler Lodge, Afterglow and Flitterfoot. This completed his campaign in Canada and from Toronto he was taken to Laurel, Md.

In his first start there he competed himself with credit when he ran Rock View to a half length at three-quarters in 1:12, for a purse. Rock View carrying 118 pounds to his 115. Frederick L. Coy, Hester Pryme and Cadeau finished behind him. In another purse race at the same distance, October 16, he was crowded out at the start and unplaced to Yankee Notions, Frederick L. and Tartar in 1:13, but on October 17 won at the same distance and in the same time, defeating his Majesty, Ramogay, Hohm, Striker, November 11, when, over five and a half furlongs, he won from Briar Path, Tartis and six more in 1:07, thus ending his campaign, as it had begun, with a victory.

When a three-year-old Leochares further distinguished himself in racing, but did not win so much money as he did the year before. In respect to his speed it may be said that he had made all the development to be hoped for, being at the end of the year of the joint siddlers of the new American record of 1:04, for three-quarters of a mile. He and Jefferson Livingston's great sprinter, Iron Mask, met twice in the course of the Douglas Park fall meeting, with honors even as to the outcome, but Iron Mask was giving him much weight on both occasions. The first of the two races was run on September 23, 1913. The starters were Iron Mask, 127 pounds, Leochares, 105; Helen Barbee and Samuel R. Meyer, 105 each. In the race Helen Barbee ran the pace and Leochares, at the end of the year of the joint siddlers of the new American record of 1:04, for three-quarters of a mile. EUROPEAN WAR DEVELOPMENTS.

London hears that the allied fleet, now sixteen miles up in the Dardanelles, has leveled the batteries of Fort Kildid, on the European side, and Fort Sultan (Chana Kalesi), on the Asiatic side, which guard the narrowest part of the straits. With the batteries silenced it is expected the fleet will demolish the fortifications to prevent the creation of more guns. Forts Hamidieh and Kildid Tabia also are being bombarded. In addition to the bombardment of the inner forts the fleet trained some guns on the fortification on the north shore of the Gallipoli peninsula, near Bulair. It is believed that it is the intention of Vice-Admiral Carden to send a landing party ashore above Bulair to seize the isthmus. Above Bulair, Gallipoli peninsula narrows to a width of only four miles. The allies, according to report, will attempt to seize the isthmus at this point, mount heavy guns and cut the line of communication between Constantinople and the European forts of the Dardanelles. That the landing party faces a huge task is indicated in a dispatch from Athens which says that reports there are to the effect that more than 100,000 Turks have been posted along the Aegean sea coast to give the allies battle in the event they try to land. Trains carrying these troops to their destination have been bombarded heavily by a British battleship in the gulf of Saros. It is not known what damage has been caused to the Sultan's forces. All men below the age of forty in the city of Constantinople have been called into service.

The Cologne Gazette, commenting on Premier Asquith's speech in the house of commons, in which he outlined Great Britain's retaliatory measures to meet Germany's submarine blockade of the British Isles says: "Our submarines will now, we hope, endeavor to destroy all goods destined for Great Britain. Great Britain, who has war to the knife, she shall have it." The Cologne Gazette is recognized both in and out of Germany as the mouthpiece of the German government, and its expressions of opinion have carried almost the weight of official statements.

Although details are meager, it is believed that heavy fighting is going on in certain parts of the western arena, to which war zone the Germans are about to send considerable reinforcements. In all the Belgian towns along the Dutch frontier posters are displayed calling upon the population to prepare for the billeting of a great number of German troops. This information is contained in a telegram received from Maestricht. The dispatch adds that at Liege 20,000 troops are expected, at Seraing 5,000 and at Wandre 1,800.

An official communication from Constantinople says: "The enemy's fleet yesterday unsuccessfully shelled the Dardanelles forts for a period of three hours. This fleet was then forced to retreat by the successful fire of the Turkish batteries. At the same time another fleet consisting of four French cruisers and some destroyers shelled the Turkish positions on the Gulf of Saros, but without any success whatever. Turkish aviators successfully bombarded the ships of the enemy."

Austrian warships have been bombarding Antivari, the seaport of Montenegro, and inflicted considerable damage. This information is contained in a dispatch received by the Montenegro consul-general in London. The message, which comes from Cetinje, follows: "Tuesday morning five Austrian warships entered the port of Antivari and bombarded the town and port. They destroyed a quantity of valuable stores, sunk the royal yacht which was at anchor and killed one civilian."

Reports reaching Holland from the United States and other countries indicate that the helle has been spreading recently that the Netherlands is about to enter into the hostilities. Semi-official circles at the Hague declare that such reports are without foundation. It is asserted that Holland's attitude of complete neutrality has not changed, but that she continues determined to protect her national rights.

The White Star liner Baltic, carrying 18,000 tons of war supplies, departed from New York for Liverpool. It was said that the Baltic carried in her holds merchandise and foodstuffs sufficient to fill 1,500 freight cars. On her decks were lashed forty semi-armored automobile trucks which were assigned to the British government for use, it was said, by English troops in France.

The Russian army of the Caucasus, driving the Turkish forces before it, has reached the river Khopias, the estuary of the Tchorik, in Armenia. This advance by the Russians cuts the route of the Turkish re-enforcements and supplies from Constantinople to the Caucasian frontier, through Khopas, Turkish Armenia, and isolates a large section of Turkish territory.

Notwithstanding rigid precautions taken by the authorities to prevent the re-exportation from Italy to belligerent nations of goods classified as contraband of war, it has been discovered that large quantities of copper have been sent to Berlin concealed in trucks loaded with cabbages.

Telegrams received by diplomats in London confirm the report that the Ottoman bank and the German bank of Constantinople are transferring their effects to Kuleh, Asia Minor, and that the archives of the Turkish government have been removed to that point.

The Russian armies in the north continue to maintain a vigorous offensive against the Germans, driving them back, except on the left bank of the Vistula, where there is no change, and before the fortress of Ossowetz, where the Kaiser's huge guns keep up their bombardment.

The German government informed Dr. Henry Van Dyke, American minister to the Netherlands, that arrangements had been made to grant safe passage through the naval war zone to American relief ships bearing supplies for the people of Belgium.

Officers and crews of British warships present at the capture or destruction of any armed hostile ship will share in the distribution of prize money, calculated at $25 for each person on board the enemy vessel at the beginning of the engagement.

The Dutch steamer Princess Juliana reports it met a German submarine en route from Flushing. The submarine, carrying the steamer and, apparently satisfied, changed its course and disappeared.

Owing to the British blockade the Bergenske and Nordenfjeldske steamship companies have suspended all sailings for Hamburg and substituted services to Luebeck, Germany.

Reports to Berlin from Concepcion, Chile, say the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich has sunk the English sailing vessel Kildid and the French sailing vessel Jeal, after taking off the crews.

The Germans announce successes south of Ypres and in Champagne. The French report gives an opposite impression.

The trawler Sapphire has sunk after striking a mine in the North sea. The crew, numbering eleven in all, was saved.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

J. Howard Lewis, who trains the jumpers of Joseph L. Widener, sends good reports of the condition of the country, including the other horses wintering at the Widener place at Elkton Park, Pa.

James A. Coullan of Portland, a representative in the Maine legislature, is preparing a bill for introduction in the house for a commission to govern racing in that state.

The Westchester Racing Association has set March 29 as the date for closing three of its steeplechase stakes. These are the International Steeplechase, the Colonial National Steeplechase and the New York Steeplechase.

The Country Club Grand Annual Steeplechase, which as usual will be one of the features of the meeting at Brookline, Mass., in June, will this year be run as a handicap. For thirteen years the race has been run under conditions that are not suitable for these days, when material of high class is so scarce, and it was this that caused the committee to make a change.

A number of gentlemen formerly active in the management of the Maryland United Hunt race meetings, which used to be held on the Pimlico track each spring and fall, are making an effort to arrange a series of races to be held in the Green Spring valley the latter part of April. It will be an invitation affair and all purses and plate will be donated by friends of the hunt meetings in Baltimore.

Among the string that E. Ambrose Clark is training at Aiken, S. C., are Floral Arist and R. S. B. H., two Irish hunters that he means to run in several of the point-to-point steeplechases in the east this spring. He also is making ready indicator, which won several races last summer, and J. J. L. which will carry the colors of E. S. Von Stadt, Meadow-sweet, Meadow Lark, Savannah, Peregrine Pickle and others for the open steeplechases are going along steadily and will be in when the season opens. M. Sigler, who did most of the riding for this stable last season, expects to report in April.
